Create your account

Welcome to advatra!

To set up your account, you need your invitation email, that you received earlier. If not, ask your administrator to create an account for you.

In the invitation email, click on the link to set a password. You will then be redirected to advatra. Enter a desired password and confirm.

You can now log in into advatra with your business email and your newly created password!

Validity

> Your invitation is only valid 24 hours after creation.

If your invitation is not valid any more, you have to request a new one. Click on the "Did you forget your password?" hint on the login screen. Enter your business email address and confirm.

You will now receive a second invitation email, with a new validity of 24 hours.
